

Interim International Sanctions Compliance Policy

Section 1 - Introduction

(1) International sanctions are non-military measures imposed by Australia on other countries in situations of international concern. Sanctions aim to limit adverse consequences of the situation, influence behaviour and penalise those responsible.

(2) There are two sanctions regimes in Australia – the United Nations Security Council (UNSC) sanctions regime and the Autonomous Sanctions Regime. These are given effect through various laws that prohibit, amongst other things:

- a. dealing with 'designated persons or entities';
- b. supplying export-sanctioned goods to sanctioned countries; and
- c. providing technical advice, assistance or training that assists with the manufacture or use of 'export sanctioned goods' in a sanctioned country or on behalf of a person or entity in the sanctioned country.

(3) This policy must be read in conjunction with any procedures which support this policy.

Section 2 - 1 Policy Scope

Section 3 - 2 Policy Intent

General Principles

(7) University will take reasonable precautions and exercise due diligence to avoid contravening a sanctions measure or a condition of a sanctions permit.

(8) Risk Management – The University will apply a risk-based approach to compliance with Australian Sanctions Laws. Compliance actions in relation to an activity will be proportionate to the risk of the activity breaching the laws. The University will consult the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT) about any proposed high-risk action prior to taking the action. Where DFAT advice indicates the action may breach an Australian Sanctions Law, the University will seek a sanctions permit for the action.

(9) University will not deal with 'designated persons or entities' under Australian Sanctions Laws, unless authorised to do so by a sanctions permit.

(10) University will not supply export-sanctioned goods unless authorised to do so by a sanctions permit.

(11) University will not provide sanctioned services, unless authorised to do so by a sanctions permit.

This policy is required to provide strategic direction University wide as to the need for compliance with the legislation referred to.

(15) The transitional guidelines give some direction to both compliance on an interim basis, and to collaboration for developing appropriate procedures.

(16) Following interim approval all staff responsible for any aspects of University business noted in clause 12 will be informed of the creation of this policy.

(17) Until such time as procedure and guidelines are developed to fully support this policy, all staff must exercise appropriate due diligence when considering any matter the subject to their authority that may fall within the scope of this Policy; and

(18) Where there is potential for an issue arising, or uncertainty as to status, the matter shall be referred to the International Compliance Coordinator who will determine what information needs to be collected and assist the decision maker to determine whether or not a notification should be made.
