

Course Design and Management Manual

Section 1 - About this Manual

Introduction

(1) This manual supports the Governance Rule and its associated Schedules. In the event of an inconsistency between lower-level policy documents and a Rule(s) or Schedule to the Rule(s), the Rule(s) made by Council prevail to the extent of the inconsistency.

(2) This Manual must be read in conjunction with the Course Assessment and Grading Manual, which provides information on designing and implementing assessment items, and grading courses.

Purpose

(3) This Manual is designed to provide clear and concise directions for staff of the University of Newcastle (University) when designing, managing, and reviewing courses, and to provide information to students.

Scope

(4) This Manual applies to enabling, undergraduate and postgraduate courses created and offered by the University, including those in which students enrol through a partner institution.

(5) This Manual applies to micro-credentials to the extent specified in the Micro-credentials Policy and the Micro-credentials Schedule. In the event of an inconsistency between this Manual and the policies specific to micro-credentials, the latter will prevail to the extent of the inconsistency, unless the matter relates to a Rule or delegation of authority.

(6) This Manual applies to the Joint Medical Program (JMP). In the event of an inconsistency between this Manual and the policies and procedures specific to the JMP, the policies and procedures of the JMP will prevail to the extent of the inconsistency, unless the matter relates to a Rule or delegation of authority.

(7) This Manual does not apply to Higher Degrees by Research (please see Higher Degree by Research Policy).

(8) This Manual makes references to College structures and positions. Equivalent structures and positions may exist in Pathways and Academic Learning Support Centre (PALSC) and are referenced where relevant.

Section 2 - Course Design Policy

Part A - General Course Principles

(9) The University utilises the following course types within programs:

- a. core courses;
- b. compulsory courses;
- c. a course on a course list; and

d. electives.

(10) Courses that are core, compulsory or on a course list within a program should be aligned to the relevant program learning outcomes.

(11) Within each course, the learning outcomes, assessment items, course content, learning activities and teaching methods must be aligned.

(12) Course learning outcomes must be specific statements that are measurable, observable, attainable, and clearly indicate what a student should know and be able to do upon completion of the course. Learning outcomes must be written clearly using future tense and appropriate verbs from the chosen taxonomy. Resources are available on the Learning Design and Teaching Innovation (LDTI) Creating Learning Outcomes webpage.

(13) The learning outcomes, knowledge, skills and application of knowledge and skills for each course level will vary depending on the field of study.

(14) Course design must encompass consideration of appropriate assessments in accordance with the principles and policies outlined in the Course Assessment and Grading Manual.

(15) Courses should be designed with appropriate consideration of the mode(s) in which they will be delivered.

Student Workload

(16) The total workload required per course must be commensurate with the unit value of the course.

(17) A student should expect to spend, on average, 120–140 hours of effort or total load (including contact and non-contact course requirements) per 10-unit course. This applies to all courses, for all fields of study and modes of delivery, excluding placement and NUPrep courses.

Part B - Course Codes

(18) Each course has a unique alphanumeric course code used to identify the course in the Curriculum Management System.

(19) The course code is comprised of the academic subject code appropriate for the course's primary area of study and a numerical value appropriate for the level of study for the course.

Academic Subject Code

(20) An academic subject code for an undergraduate or postgraduate course is the four-letter prefix at the beginning of a course code, for example: EDUC or MATH.

(21) For enabling courses, the academic subject code is a six-letter prefix, for example: EPMATH.

(22) New academic subject codes should correspond to one of the narrow Field of Education codes listed in the Australia Standard Classification of Education.

(23) New academic subject codes must be approved by the Senior Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic & Global) on the recommendation of the Academic Division General Manager and Academic Registrar.

(24) An academic subject code may be disestablished by Academic Governance and Compliance when:

- a. it has been replaced by a more appropriate code; or
- b. there are no longer any courses utilising the code available at the University.

Level of Study

(25) Table 1 outlines the numerical values for each level of study.

Table 1 - Levels of Study

| Level of Study |              | Numerical Value |
|----------------|--------------|-----------------|
| Enabling       |              | 100-900         |
| Undergraduate  | Introductory | 1000-1999       |
|                | Intermediate | 2000-2999       |
|                | Senior       | 3000-3999       |
|                | Advanced     | 4000-5999       |
| Postgraduate   |              | 6000            |

Part C - Course Structure

Unit Value

(26) The standard unit value for courses is 10, 20, 30 or 40 units.

(27) The Program and Course Approval Committee (PCAC) may consider courses proposed to have a unit value other than a standard unit value.

(28) A course approved as a credit bearing micro-credential may have a lower unit value. Suggested unit values are 2 or 5 units. Refer to the Micro-credentials Policy and Micro-credentials Schedule.

Co-Badged Courses

(29) Where the same subject matter is relevant to both undergraduate and postgraduate students, two separate courses may be created to deliver this content at an appropriate level of study for each cohort. The two courses are described as 'co-badged' courses.

(30) Each co-badged course must have its own course code and a unique entry in the Curriculum Management System.

(31) An undergraduate course may be co-badged with a postgraduate course.

(32) An undergraduate course cannot be co-badged with a higher-level undergraduate course.

(33) Where an undergraduate course has been co-badged with a postgraduate course, the postgraduate course will:

- include unique course learning outcomes appropriate to the higher AQF level of the course;
- include unique assessment item(s) aligned with the higher-level learning outcomes; and
- provide opportunities for students to engage with course content, targeted learning activities and assessment items that are appropriately aligned to the postgraduate level learning outcomes. This may require additional learning activities to be offered on top of those required for the undergraduate course.

(34) Common content may be made available to both postgraduate and undergraduate students through shared or common channels (e.g. in-person lectures, merged LMS course sites, etc).

(35) The course record in the Curriculum Management System must clearly identify if courses are co-badged so that students are not able to count both courses towards their program requirements.

Multi-Term Sequence Courses

(36) Single term courses are the norm and the preferred option. Multi-term sequence courses are the exception.

(37) If a course is supervised (for example, WIL, a project, a thesis, fieldwork, or a practicum), it may be a multi-term sequence course. Justification must be provided for the creation of a multi-term supervised sequence course as part of the course approval process.

(38) Multi-term sequence courses will be identified by an alphabetical suffix following the alphanumeric course code e.g. ABCD1234A and ABCD1234B.

(39) Multi-term sequence courses will usually have a combined unit value of 20, 30 or 40 units. The unit value of a multi-term sequence course is the total value of the sequence and is not divisible.

(40) Multi-term sequence courses may only be offered in standard terms (semester or trimester).

(41) Multi-term sequence courses must have clearly identifiable components which align with the term of offer (semester or trimester).

(42) The preferred option for the offering of multi-term sequence courses is Part A in Semester 1 and Part B in Semester 2 of any particular year. Variations to this preferred option may be justified to facilitate mid-year commencement or where the multi-term sequence is comprised of more than two components. However, all components must be offered consecutively.

(43) The component courses within each multi-term sequence must be studied sequentially in consecutive terms.

(44) In extenuating circumstances, at the discretion of the Program Convenor, the Program Convenor may approve an exception to allow a student to complete the components of a multi-term sequence course concurrently or non-consecutively. This must be supported by the Course Co-ordinator for the multi-term sequence course, and only where the student has demonstrated an ability to succeed in the course.

Part D - Course Components

Course Content

(45) Course content must:

- a. be appropriate for the field of study and the level at which it is being offered;
- b. be current and of high quality;
- c. be distinctive and avoid unnecessary duplication with other existing courses;
- d. be delivered by those with appropriate expertise in the relevant field of study;
- e. be equivalent across modes and locations in terms of the academic content and the number, weighting, and types of assessment items within a course;
- f. comply with the Code for the Protection of Freedom of Speech and Academic Freedom;
- g. be aligned with, and support student attainment of, course learning outcomes; and
- h. comply with copyright legislation (refer to the Copyright Compliance Policy).

Compulsory Course Requirements

(46) A Compulsory Course Requirement is an element in a course which must be satisfactorily completed before a passing mark will be awarded for the course.

(47) Compulsory Course Requirements:

- a. are approved:
  - i. for new courses, by the College Board or Pathways and Academic Learning Support Centre Board as part of the academic content of the proposed course; or
  - ii. for existing courses, in accordance with the course revision policies and procedures set out in Section 6 of this Manual;
- b. must be entered into the Curriculum Management System for inclusion in the Course Outline;
- c. must be specifically linked to the course learning outcomes; and
- d. may or may not be awarded marks.

(48) Compulsory Course Requirements may include:

- a. placement and WHS requirements (see clauses 51-53 below, and the Work Integrated Learning Policy and associated procedures);
- b. assessments requirements (refer to the Course Assessment and Grading Manual); or
- c. compulsory attendance requirements (see clauses 54-59 below).

(49) Wherever possible, satisfactory completion of a Compulsory Course Requirement should not cause the student workload for the course to exceed 120-140 hours of effort per term for a 10-unit course. This may be relaxed for compulsory placement requirements.

Compulsory Placement and WHS Requirements

(50) Compulsory placement or WHS requirements must be met by students to enable them to proceed with a placement or other activity. Types of placement and WHS requirements are set out in Table 2.

(51) Compulsory placement or WHS requirements will not be awarded marks.

(52) Regardless of the final mark obtained for a course, failure to undertake or successfully complete any compulsory placement or WHS requirement will result in a component fail (CF) grade for the course. Refer to the Course Assessment and Grading Manual.

Table 2 - Types of Placement and WHS Requirements

| Requirement Type                    | Description   |
|-------------------------------------|---|

| Working with Children Check          | A national criminal history check and review of findings of misconduct involving children, required for any child-related work.         |

Compulsory Attendance

(53) Compulsory attendance is a requirement for all scheduled learning activities other than lectures in 1000-level courses. For these courses:

- a. students must attend at least 80% of the sessions scheduled for each type of learning activity in the course, (excluding lectures); and
- b. attendance must be recorded via the myUni app 'Attendance Check-In' system.

(54) A higher attendance requirement than outlined in clause 54(a) may be set for specific learning activities in a 1000-level course. The higher attendance requirement must be specified in the Curriculum Management System and included in the Course Outline.

(55) Compulsory attendance may be set for specific learning activities in 2000-level or higher courses. For these courses:

- a. the attendance requirement must be specified in the Curriculum Management System and included in the Course Outline;
- b. attendance records must be maintained for all compulsory learning activities, and must be stored in accordance with the University's Records Governance Policy; and
- c. students must be advised in the Course Outline that attendance records are being kept, and the means by which they are being kept.

(56) For all courses, students who are unable to attend a compulsory learning activity due to adverse circumstances may submit an application for an exemption in accordance with the Adverse Circumstances Affecting Assessment Items Policy and Procedure.

(57) Where possible, a student who has been unable to attend a compulsory learning activity due to approved adverse circumstances should be provided with an appropriate alternative option to gain the knowledge or skills they would otherwise miss due to their absence.

(58) Regardless of the final mark obtained for a course, where a student has not met the compulsory attendance requirement, and no exemption has been granted, a component fail (CF) grade will be awarded for the course. Refer to the Course Assessment and Grading Manual.

Reporting Indicators

(59) The following government reporting indicators must be noted in the Curriculum Management System where applicable to a course:

Table 3 - Reporting Indicators

| Indicator                      | Description/Criteria   |
|--------------------------------|--|
| Indigenous Content             | The course incorporates elements of Indigenous ways of knowing and being that are appropriate to the subject being studied, so that students develop a deeper and more meaningful understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and their communities.  |
| Work Integrated Learning (WIL) | Students will undertake a significant engagement experience with industry, government, a non-government organisation or other possible future employer in order to develop their awareness of workforce practices and improve their workplace readiness. WIL may be simulated, undertaken within the University or externally, and may include, among other things, clinical or other professional placements or internships, or project work. |
| Internationalisation           | The curricula of the course includes international content and perspectives, in order to develop student's understanding of the global contexts of what they are learning. This might include, among other things, international internships, or in class activities and/or coursework assessments that require consideration of international contexts and perspectives.  |

Part E - Course Enrolment Attributes

Course Enrolment Rules

(60) The Program and Course Approval Committee (PCAC) must approve all new Course Enrolment Rules, as part of the creation of a new course or as a revision to an existing course.

(61) Course enrolment rules will only be used to limit enrolment where there is an evidence-based need such as:

- a. for professional accreditation; or
- b. to ensure the health, safety and wellbeing of students or the community.

(62) Course enrolment rules are systematised to either allow or restrict enrolment, and must be entered in the Curriculum Management System.

(63) The course enrolment rule types are outlined in Table 4.

Table 4 - Course Enrolment Rule Types

| Course Enrolment Rules                  | Description  |
|---|--|
| Program Enrolment Rule                  | Limits enrolment to students in a specific program or programs.  |
| Program Exclusion                       | Prevents students from completing a course as part of their program.   |

| Course Concurrent Study                 | Prevents students from enrolling in a course unless they are also enrolled in other specified course in the same term.   |
| Course Prerequisite or Concurrent Study | Prevents a student from enrolling in a course unless they have either successfully completed a specified course, or they are enrolled in that specified course in the same term. |
| Course Exclusion                        | Prevents students from enrolling in a course if they have successfully completed a specified course, or if they are enrolled in that specified course in the same term.          |
| Multi Term Sequence Part A              | Prevents a student from enrolling in a Multi Term Sequence Part B course until they have completed Multi Term Sequence Part A.   |

Course Enrolment Milestones

(64) Course enrolment milestones are systematised to prevent students who do not meet the milestone from enrolling into the course, and must be entered in the Curriculum Management System.

(65) The types of course enrolment milestones are outlined in Table 5.

Table 5 - Course Enrolment Milestones Types

| Course Enrolment Milestone           | Description   |
|--------------------------------------|---|

| MATH1110 Milestone                   | Prevents students from enrolling in a course until they have met the MATH1110 Milestone.  |
| Psychology Competency Test Milestone | Prevents students from enrolling in a course until they have completed the Psychology Competency Test Milestone.  |
| Teacher Education Milestone          | Prevents students from enrolling in a course until they have met the Teacher Education Milestone by the completion of either:- Three HSC band 5s (including one in English); or- 80 units of University courses; or- A comparable pathway approved by the regulatory authority. |
| Teacher Mathematics Milestone        | The successful completion of the NESA Band 4 Mathematics milestone is required prior to enrolling in this course.   |

Assumed Knowledge and Other Enrolment Information

(66) The inclusion of assumed knowledge in a course indicates that the course will be taught on the basis that students will already have a certain level of knowledge.

(67) Assumed knowledge may refer to specific courses or a volume of units at a certain level of study that students should have completed before enrolling into a course.

(68) Assumed knowledge requirements are not systematised, and students who do not meet the assumed knowledge requirement may still enrol into a course.

(69) Assumed knowledge and other information to guide student enrolment will be captured within the Curriculum Management System and will be published via the Course Handbook.

Table 6 - Enrolment Information Fields

| Enrolment Guidance | Description  |
|--------------------|--|
| Assumed knowledge  | Free text field used to guide student enrolment choice.  |
| Information        | Free text field used to guide student enrolment choice. Example: Students must obtain permission from the Course Co-ordinator to enrol in this course. |

Section 3 - Course Creation

Part F - New Course Policy

(70) A new course may be developed to:

- offer new content;

- b. replace an existing course; or
- c. consolidate two or more existing courses under a new course code.

(71) A new course may only be offered where:

- a. the course meets at least one of the criteria in clause 73 for creation of new courses;
- b. the academic content of the new course proposal is approved by the relevant College Board or Pathways and Academic Learning Support Centre Board; and
- c. the relevant delegate has approved the creation of the new course:
  - i. Program and Course Approval Committee (PCAC), for enabling, undergraduate or postgraduate coursework courses, and credit-bearing micro-credentials;
  - ii. Pathways and Academic Learning Support Centre Board, for NUPrep courses; or
  - iii. College Board for non-credit bearing microcredentials.

(72) At least one of the following criteria must be demonstrated to justify the creation of a new course:

- a. the course is proposed as part of a:
  - i. revised program, balanced by the deletion of another course;
  - ii. new program, balanced by the deletion of another course; or
  - iii. new program, where the Portfolio Strategy Group has approved a net increase in course numbers;
- b. the course is required for a revised program following an external program review, developed in response to an approved College Response and Action Plan;
- c. the course is replacing another course with similar content; or
- d. the course is otherwise appropriately justified.

(73) When approving course content, the relevant College Board or Pathways and Academic Learning Support Centre Board will be guided by the level of study to determine if content is appropriate.

Part G - New Course Procedure

(74) New course proposals, other than non-credit bearing micro-credentials and NUPrep courses, will be considered by PCAC, and must include:

- a. the criteria (per clause 73) under which the new course is proposed;
- b. the assessment item weightings for the proposed course; and
- c. the duration of the formal examination (if applicable).

(75) In deciding whether to approve a new course, the delegate must consider:

- a. the content of the course in relation to existing bodies of knowledge and research;
- b. the proposed academic level of the course;
- c. the alignment of learning activities, teaching methods, assessment requirements and learning outcomes;
- d. the appropriateness of the number, type, timing, level, and weighting of assessment items;
- e. whether the learning outcomes of the new course are valid, achievable, and at the appropriate level;
- f. the existence and clarity of the proposed Curriculum Management System entry; and
- g. the proposed mode(s) of delivery for the course.

Section 4 - Course Delivery Policy

Part H - Modes of Delivery

(76) Table 7 specifies the available modes of delivery for courses, as approved by Academic Senate.

(77) The mode of delivery chosen for any course must:

- be appropriate to ensure that students can develop the skills and knowledge required to achieve the course learning outcomes; and
- align with the approved mode of delivery of any programs in which the course appears.

Table 7 - Modes of Delivery for Courses

| Type      | Mode                  | Description  | Content Delivery      |                       | Active Learning           |                       |

Part I - Course Availability

(78) A course may be offered:

- a. at one or more locations in the same term; and/or
- b. using different modes of delivery during the same term.

(79) The Course Availability List (CAL) specifies the terms, locations and modes of delivery for all course offerings.

(80) To facilitate the production of the timetable (in accordance with the Timetabling Policy and Procedure), the relevant delegate must approve the Course Availability List (CAL) for all terms in a given academic year by no later than 31 May of the previous year.

(81) In extenuating circumstances, late additions or removals of course offerings may be approved in accordance with Table 8.

Table 8 - Approval Authorities for Course Availability List

| Action   | Timeframe  | Types of Course/Offering                                | Approval Authority  |
|--|--|---|---|
| Approve the CAL for the following academic year. | Prior to 31 May.   | All   | Head of SchoolHead of Domestic Programs, PALS   |
| Late addition to the CAL.                        | After 31 May but before commencement of the enrolment period for the relevant term of offer. | Online offerings only.                                  | Head of SchoolHead of Domestic Programs, PALS   |

|  | After the commencement of the enrolment period for the relevant term of offer.               | Offerings with no students enrolled.                    | College Pro Vice-Chancellor (CPVC)Director, Pathways and Academic Learning Support Centre |
|  |  | Offerings with students enrolled.                       | Senior Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic & Global)   |

(82) Late additions of face-to-face course offerings may not be guaranteed optimal timetabling. This means courses may not be timetabled clash-free and may not be allocated to preferred times or rooms.

(83) When removing a course offering on the CAL, the delegate must give consideration to:

- a. the recommended enrolment pathway for any relevant programs;
- b. where the course is on a course list, the availability of alternative course options in the relevant term; and
- c. the overall availability of courses in any relevant programs, to ensure that:

- i. there are sufficient courses offered in each term to enable completion within the minimum full-time duration (unless the program is offered part-time only); and
- ii. where the program is available to international student visa holders, there are sufficient courses offered on-campus in each term to enable compliance with visa requirements.

(84) Students must not be disadvantaged as a consequence of an amendment to the Course Availability List (CAL).
