

Staff Code of Conduct

About the Code of Conduct

(1) This Code applies to all staff (including honorary academic appointees), volunteers, University Council members, contractors (including agency staff) and external members of University committees (referred to as “All people this Code applies to”).

(2) This Code sets out principles and obligations which align with the University's values of excellence, equity, engagement and sustainability in accordance with the Looking Ahead Strategic Plan and the Ethical Framework. The University is a global leader distinguished by a commitment to Indigenous education, and to creating life ready graduates and a better future for its region through a focus on innovation and impact.

(3) This Code should be read in conjunction with the rules, policies, procedures, guidelines, manuals and frameworks located in the University policy library.

(4) This Code cannot address every situation that may be encountered. Please ask for guidance and support from a senior staff member or refer to one of the resources listed in this Code if you require assistance in a particular situation.

Part A - Principles

(5) All people this Code applies to must conduct themselves in a manner that is consistent with the University's principles as outlined below.

Honesty

(6) Honesty fosters trust, integrity, and a culture of academic excellence. Honesty ensures the accuracy and reliability of research, teaching, and administrative processes, and assists in maintaining the University's reputation and the credibility of all associated with the University. Honesty supports open, transparent, and respectful communication. Honesty fosters an environment where diverse ideas and perspectives can be expressed and debated to reflect the University's strong commitment to the principles of academic freedom, freedom of speech and ethical decision-making.

Fairness

(7) Fairness guides actions that are impartial and consistent and encompasses the principles of inclusivity and natural justice. Fairness reflects the University's commitment to celebrating diversity and its zero tolerance for unlawful harassment or discrimination. Fairness is the foundation for making equitable decisions, ensuring equal access to opportunities, resources, and information. Fairness safeguards academic integrity by preventing favouritism or unlawful discrimination.

Trust

(8) Trust is achieved through honesty, fairness and transparency. It is fostered by cooperative collaboration amongst colleagues and delivering on commitments. Trust is cultivated by appropriately sharing information, while also preserving confidentiality and safeguarding privacy as appropriate. The University holds a position of trust in our community which comes with the responsibility for us to act with integrity and professionalism.

Accountability

(9) Accountability means we take ownership of all actions or inactions within our control. It means upholding the integrity of our academic endeavours, avoiding conflicts of interest and taking action against wrongdoing. Accountability involves behaving professionally and being proactive about our knowledge and learning. It also means contributing to sustainability – social, economic and environmental.

Respect

(10) Respect means treating every person with courtesy, consideration and dignity. It means we behave and communicate in a way that is professional and does not offend, degrade or humiliate. It includes acknowledging Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures and heritage and the traditional custodians of the lands on which the University is situated. Respect fosters a harmonious and inclusive environment where diverse perspectives can be shared. Respect also extends to treating animals considerately and showing consideration for the property of the University and others.

Part B - Obligations
