

Purchasing Card Policy and Procedures

Section 1 - Introduction

(1) This Purchasing Card Policy (the Policy) specifies the use of, eligibility for, responsibilities and restrictions on the University's Purchasing Card.

(2) The University of Newcastle Purchasing Card was introduced as an alternative purchasing and payment mechanism to provide for efficiencies in the procurement of high volume but low value purchasing and travel related transactions.

(3) Cardholders are entrusted with a University Purchasing Card to facilitate such transactions and must at all times be mindful of this position of trust in the use of public funds. To facilitate compliance with the University's Purchasing Card Policy and the appropriateness of expenditures incurred on these cards, the University supplements this Policy with a number of other safeguards and internal controls.

Section 2 - Audience

(4) This Policy applies to all staff of the University who have been issued with a University Purchasing Card and all Supervisors of the aforementioned Cardholders.

Section 3 - Policy

(6) The Cardholder agrees to:

- b. Ensure all expenditures incurred are directly related to the requirements of their position/office within the University and are in accordance with their financial delegation.

If a transaction is identified during the internal audit review of Purchasing Cards which is considered potentially excessive, the Cardholder and approver will be asked to provide an explanation for the expenditure justifying the validity of the expenditure.

(31) Examples of 'Excessive Transactions' constituting a breach of Policy include, but are not limited to:

a. Cardholder:

- i. Purchasing transactions which are excessive and/or beyond reasonable business related expenditure;
- ii. Purchasing a more expensive item, when a cheaper alternative which is fit for purpose exists;
- iii. Tips, gratuities (as where customary) in excess of 10% of the bill total.

- iii. The use of a subordinate's card to avoid or circumvent the normal approval channels.

Note: Where the transaction is incurred for a senior officer by a designated personal/administrative assistant or executive officer and where the transaction is made for the general functioning of the office, school or administrative unit, the administrative officer may utilise their own card to incur the transaction.

Section 7 - Reasonable Expenditure

(34) In all instances of expenditure claimed for reimbursement or expenditure made via credit card payment, the staff member or delegate should be comfortable in disclosing the expense, should that be required, and be able to identify the benefit for the University.

(35) Supervisors charged with responsibility for authorising transactions should be satisfied that the claim or transaction was reasonable, prior to the authorisation of any such payment or reimbursement.

(36) Whilst it is not possible to precisely define reasonability for the myriad of transactions that are incurred on Purchasing Cards or claimed via reimbursement, matters which should be considered in determining whether the claim is reasonable include the quantum of the claim and the frequency of claims. Due consideration also needs to be given to factors such as custom, geographical cost of living (overseas, domestic) and accepted community practices or standards.
